

ChiliProject - Bug # 1090: List of saved queries is not accessible outside of a project

Status:	Closed	Priority:	Normal
Author:	Hudson Santos	Category:	Issue tracking
Created:	2012-07-23	Assignee:	Holger Just
Updated:	2013-01-06	Due date:
Remote issue URL:
Affected version:	3.3.0
Description:	As you can see (screenshot idealmente.png), in ChiliProject 3.0.0.11e93ff36 (MySQL) there are buttons of my saved queries appearing on <code>/issues</code> page (general issues for all projects under chiliproject environment). But, in ChiliProject 3.3.0 (MySQL) this feature disappeared..(screenshot com_problema.png) Is it a new feature? I can still access this feature using an URL parameter like <code>http://my_domain.com.br:3000/issues?query_id=1</code> but this is not user friendly cause buttons disappeared. Sincerely,

Display sidebar queries outside of a project #1090

I can confirm the issue. It was "introduced" in commit:277815ec963d3bf0f8d8f962e5bcb806e01ee938. In project pages, the saved queries are available in the sidebar menu. Unfortunately we don't have such a menu outside of a project. For the special case, I think we can at least keep the old rendering.

Thanks for reporting.

- Status changed from Open to Closed

In commit:d63d2d2 we re-introduce the queries in the sidebar when outside of any project, i.e., in an environment where we don't have a project menu available.

@Holger Just,

We thank you very much.

That's working.

Today we have committed our internal ChiliProject and that's working fine.

Regards,
