As it is now, there is very limited email options that are only configurable chilli-wide. I need to see emails for certain types of issue updates, but not all of them. At the moment, I'm getting flooded by emails because certain fields in an issue were changed that I dont care about. I want to see that an issue has been assigned to me (or assignment removed), issue text updated/added/changed, and maybe also priorities changed. Other than that, I dont care to see milestone/revision changes, custom field changes, categories, target versions, etc. Right now the only way to configure what emails get sent out is chilli-wide, if I could do that as an individual, I'd have a lot more control over what was flooding me! :) thanks!
