Description:	Hi there,

currently the administration start page (i.e. the page you see when selecting "More" â†' "Administration" from the menu bar, @/admin@) just shows the same links as the sidebar, which is redundant. It would be nice if instead the administration start page could show some actually useful information, like

* This chiliproject instance currently has X registered users
* There are X public and Y private projects
* In total, X tickets have been reported, where Y are open
* X posts have been written in the forums, forming Y threads
* etc.

I.e., some more interesting statistical information than a duplicate link list. Probably the "Information" admin page could be merged into the start page also.

Valete,
Marvin

Good suggestion! Would love to see that in a future release.
