

ChiliProject - Feature # 126: Navigation items customization

Status:	Open	Priority:	Normal
Author:	Derek Montgomery	Category:	User interface
Created:	2011-02-02	Assignee:
Updated:	2011-02-03	Due date:
Remote issue URL:
Affected version:
Description:	Having a place in the settings of a ChiliProject to define custom navigation items (ie links on left top bar) would be great for integration. (Category should be 'Core'?)

Associated revisions

2011-11-25 08:04 pm - Felix Schäfer

Merge pull request #126 from mbreit/bugfix/711-tabular_form_builder_ruby19

[#711] Fix TabularFormBuilder on Ruby 1.9

This is actually a bug in rails 2.3.14 on ruby 1.9 -- Felix

History

2011-02-03 01:09 am - Eric Davis

- Category set to User interface

I'm not sure if this should be part of the core. I have a few plugins that add menu items up there, maybe we can create an official plugin that makes it easier to manage them?

I've been using Wordpress a lot recently and their "custom menu" feature is really cool.