| Description:      | The heading (h2) in /issue/show is a good place to show something related with the identity of the issue, as http://redmine.ruby-lang.org/issues/show/1 .Could you add an hook point here? I would like to use the hook for the MailingListIntegration plugin which I am developing. I think it is useful for integrating redmine with an external system which posts an issue. |                  |                |

I'll take a look at it. I wish there was a better way we could use hooks so that a plugin could change the heading too.

Thanks Yuki Sonoda. I've added the @:view_issues_show_identifier@ hook in commit:0db26f8.
