Description:	The subtasks system is really useful, but the current implementation doesn't allow a task hierarchy to cross projects. There are many situations in which it would bring a real flexibility. There's already a simple "patch": http://www.redmine.org/issues/5473 to allow this.

Thanks for the heads up on the patch. We were attempting to code around this and use related tickets function exclusively. It would be great to see this as apart of core product.

Awesome, +1.

Is it planned to include that into the trunk?

+1 we would use cross project issues a lot (issue 1 on project 1 has a subtask on project 2... etc)
