

ChiliProject - Feature # 784: select (the only) activity by default when logging time

Status:	Open	Priority:	Normal
Author:	launch pad	Category:	User interface
Created:	2011-12-20	Assignee:
Updated:	2011-12-20	Due date:
Remote issue URL:
Affected version: 2.5.0
Description: Update Issue -> Log Time -> x hours -> Submit -> ! "Log time is invalid", "Activity can't be blank"
For a project with only one activity, chiliproject still requires that you select that single activity from the drop down before you can log time. It may be necessary when there are multiple activities to select the activity from that drop down when you are logging time, but if there is only one possible activity, it is inconvenient to have to select it each time to log time on a project. Having a default activity for when there is more than one possible activity might be nice, but at least selecting the only activity available, by default, is the feature here.

History
