Description:	I'm testing Chiliproject 3.0.0beta1, and came across following (little?) bug the title of my setup was :

CNN Software Management & Revision Control (beta test)

now the title is being split to new lines as follows:
CNN Software
Management
& Revision Control (Beta test)

while there should be enough room up to and including the word "revision"

when I use the same title, and (to test) swap the spaces with underscores, I can see the title up to the word Revision.

can it be fixed, so it does not split the title?

This is currently as restriction be give ourself to cater users with displays that are not 3000 pixels wide. To support 1024 pixels, we currently restrict the application title to 200px. Anything wider breaks the layout.

See more details in the duplicated issue #804.
